Spring Humors, whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, whether of the skin, scalp, or blood, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, are now speedily, permanently, and economically cured by the Cuticura Remedies when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. The almost miraculous cures daily effected by them prove this. No statement is made regarding them not warranted by the strongest evidence. They are, in truth, the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. They are absolutely pure, and agreeable to the most sensitive, and may be used on the youngest infant and most delicate invalid with gratifying and unfailing success. Curr-CURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, permits rest and sleep, soothes and heals raw and irritated surfaces, clears the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the only medicated toilet soap, is indispensable in cleansing diseased surfaces. CUTTCURA RE-SOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier, and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus removes the cause. Hence, the Cuticura Remedies cure every humor of the Spring, from the simplest facial blemishes to the worst case of scrofula. Sale greater than the combined sales of all other blood and skin remedies.

HYLAND'S DEATH. it is Made Subject for Official Inquisition. Coroner Harrigan began the inquest terday in the case of James Hyland, who died under mysterious circumstances at his home in Benson Place on March 13. The chemical analysis of the stomach had not been completed, but, as Mrs. Hyland wished to go cast, her testimony was taken and that of Henry Hultzinger, a saloonist who lives near the Hyland residence, and the case was then continued until next Tuesday, when it is expected that the stomach analysis will be ready to be offered in evidence.

Mrs. Hyland was the first witness called. She stated that her husband had gone with Dr. Mason to the latter's office to get some medicine for a sick child, and when he replained of feeling numb and very peculiar. He lay down on the bed but could not over-come the peculiar feeling of coldness and numbness which he said he first felt when Dr. Mason gave him a glass of ginger whisky at the office, half an hour be Mrs. Hyland said she gave him a cup of cof-fee, but it seemed to have no effect. She then called Mr. Hultzinger and in a few moments Mr. Hyland was dead.

Mr. Hultzinger said that Hyland colled at his saloon after he came from Dr. Mason's office and said that the doctor had given him thirteen drops of ginger in some whisky, and he had feit very strange from the very mo-ment he drank it. Hyland went out of the saloon without drinking anything, and Hultzingor said he did not see him again until Mrs Hyland called him, half an hour later. He went to Hyland's house and found him dying.

Gambling Cases Continued. The gambling cases which were set for trial yesterday afternoon in the police court, were continued until 2 p. m. next Thursday, It is expected that the gamblers will make a fight on the point that the officers over-stepped their authority in effecting an en-trance into the gambling rooms. A large crowd was present in the court room during the afternoon, evidently expect-ing to see or hear something sensational.

Solid for Parnell

Jeremiah Howard, one of the leading republican Irishmen of South Omaha, and a refugee from English coercion, who was one of the notables who filled the Irish jails, has just received a letter from one of his Ballytanders compatriots, dated February 12. The letter is interesting and throws considerable light on the Parnell question. The letter is as follows: "I hope you will not feel angry for my not replying to your letter before now. The fact is we've got such a knocking about since this new departure that we have not taken time to do our most pressing business, much less to attend to friendly and favored correspond-

"Anyway, I was an xious to have those negotiations in France tried out, although I had all along expected the result which came. It is a deplorable state of affairs, and so painful and demeralizing that I am sure many a good and honest nationalist will run clear of the movement for all future time.

"I am glad to be able to state to you that I am grad to be able to state to you that those old districts of oursare solid and independent as of yere. Unfortunately the influence of the bishops and clergy is holding the lukewarm section of the people in a neutral position, and keeping the weak entirely with them. Still they have no power.

"I have attended a few of Parnell's greatest meetings in Munster, and I have never witnessed such powerful enthusiasm. Every single minded person, of any intel-ligence from the highest to the lowest, are unchangeable for Parnell. He is a wonder-ful man to stand it at all. The barbarous treatment to himself would drive another man mad, but he calculated on having with him all the country that is worth having. This he certainly has, but still it is to be feared the injury to the cause will be deplorfeared the injury to the cause will be depiorable. As I can see it, and this is how most of us here take it, we had better go on in slavery for two or three more decades than be duped into acceptance of a measure of self-government that would leave the country in a worse state than at present, but it would satisfy the Irish liberals, who have been sweating to settle themselves in office in a more degraded fashion than any castlebuck that ever polluted the country.

that ever polluted the country, "Every day shews more clearly the mad policy of the seceders and the absurdity of expecting any good for the country through them. The poor, evicted tenants will be ruined if any considerable portion of the country should follow the priests at present. This, thank God. does not does not at present seem likely. der these gentlemen would make a fight. Believe me, their own power, in the politics of this hopeless land, will be soon tried, aye and determined. At the start of this split they thought in some places to have their opponents killed right off, but this game not succeeding, they are going a wee oit more tamely as times go and the country stands firm."

Mr. Howard openly asserts that it is only the remnants who are deserting Mr. Parnell, and that the intelligence, virtue and patriotsm of the Irish people are inalienably for
